

Agile Team Meets a Fixed Price Contract

Fixed price contracts are evil - this is what can often be heard from agilists. On the other hand those contracts are reality which many agile teams have to face. But what if we try to tame it instead of fighting against it? How the company can execute this kind of contract using agile practices to achieve better results with lower risk? This article will try to answer those questions.

This article has moved to InfoQ

<http://www.infoq.com/articles/agile-team-fixed-price-contract>

InfoQ
veve

